

Willdan Awarded $16 Million Energy Efficiency Program with Consolidated Edison

February 20, 2024

ANAHEIM, Calif.--(BUSINESS WIRE)--Feb. 20, 2024-- Willdan Group, Inc. (NASDAQ: WLDN) announced today that it was awarded a $16 million, two-year contract to continue implementing Consolidated Edison's Small and Medium Business Energy Efficiency and Clean Heat Program in New York City and Westchester County. Under this contract, Willdan will be supporting Con Edison in continuing the transition to non-lighting electrical measures, electrification of heating, and building envelope upgrades. Additionally, the next program cycle will focus on increasing participation from smaller customers in disadvantaged communities. Willdan has implemented this program since 2009.

"This program takes advantage of developing technology to deliver cleaner, more efficient energy choices to our commercial customers," said Greg Elcock, Vice President of Customer Clean Energy Programs for Con Edison. "As we help Con Edison's small and medium commercial customers reduce their energy consumption, we continue the transition to a clean energy future by making these improvements more affordable to New York businesses."

"Willdan is honored to continue our work with Con Edison supporting their transition to efficient, electric alternatives," said Mike Bieber, Willdan's CEO. "We've been able to help Con Edison anticipate future needs by preparing this program's transition to non-lighting measures and introducing electrification measures ahead of other markets."
